STUDENT ASSESSMENT & REPORTING POLICY

Rationale

Student Assessment and Reporting is an important part of the teaching and learning cycle. Teachers are responsible to communicate to parents their child's progress through various means.

Principles

Open communication between the teachers and parents is crucial in allowing each child to achieve their full potential. The various assessment strategies used will give the parents insight as to how their child is progressing.

Procedures

The following table explains what reporting and assessment strategies teachers use throughout the year. These strategies are subject to change and can be modified according to the students needs.
